REAL ESTATE MARKETING INVESTMENT PROPERTIES MARKET RESEARCH RENTAL DEVELOPMENTS CONDO DEVELOPMENTS

Q3-2015 MARKET REPORT

With the wave of new development that is hitting the market, a majority of the product is rental and as we predicted from Q1-2015, we are finally seeing the rental rate number leveling out.

The third quarter of 2015 is showing an average rent in Long Island City of $3,123, which is down from last quarters average of $3,207. In Astoria pricing has remained the same as last quarter.

For condominium sales in Long Island City, the price per square foot went down from $1,119 to $1,088, which is mostly for resales as new product has just started to come online at the end of this quarter.

For condominium sales in Astoria, our predictions from Q2-2015 are being realized as we are seeing that the in contract price per foot has actually gone up to $924 with as numbers as high as $1,151 compared to the closed sales, which show $802. This increase in number is due to The Marx, which helped build a bridge from the old numbers to the new and is now setting the new standard of pricing for the neighborhood.

In LIC we see condominium pricing gradually increasing as newer product comes online, but the rental market will be slowing down as we are expecting close to 20,000 new units coming online over the next 3 years

In addition to Long Island City and Astoria we have also included rental data for emerging neighborhoods in Queens such as Sunnyside, Jackson Heights, Woodside, Rego Park and Flushing. The numbers are starting to show a major increase from what they used to be just last year as new projects break ground and a new luxury market starts to build.
